Observations

National Percentile Scale

Key: Low NP | Median | High NP

Scores in the area to the left of the shading are below the average range. Eight MDNP scores are above the average range and no MDNP scores are below the average range. In Reading, for example, the MDNP score is 87.0, which is above the average range. The lowest Reading score in the group is 54 and the highest is 98. (This information is shown both on the graph and in the "Low/High NP" column.)

Additional information about the interpretation of these scores and the use of test results can be found in the Teacher's Guide to TerraNova, The Second Edition and at CTB's website, www.ctb.com.
